of the race others did, E. R. Bradley's filly Blossom Time, which won the first division of the stake, pulled up able to start her in the Gold Cup Spesible. He said he realized the special vas purely a sporting event and he did not want it to appear that he was doing the unsportsmanlike trick of unning out of the race.

Donges, the Western colt belonging to J. S. Ward of Kentucky, which finished second to Blossom Time, is another that was not in good shape after the race. He is an unsound colt and this morning his feet hurt him and it was with difficulty that he got around. He was so sore Mr. Ward said he believed he would be unable to meet Saily's Alley in the special.

Little Celt Ailing.

A third of those eligible for the spe-l, which came out of the race in bad condition was Sandy McNaughton's Lit-tle Celt. This colt, which finished third after the worst kind of racing luck and should have won, hurt his leg. It filled up and this morning McNaughton said he was unable to say whether or not the colt would be in shape for Tuesday's

Several of the best informed football students of the West declared to us that Nebraska had the strongest eleven in the country. They said that it was possessed of such brains, weight and speed that it practically was unbeatable. The change makes it possible for a player to put a member of his own team onside. This can be brought about if a player, after passing the puck to another player, advances in front of the rulber before the second player hits it.

It was provided also that a line be drawn across the rink twenty feet away from each goal line and that when the puck is between this line and the goal the players defending the goal cannot be offside no matter what their position within this area might be.

Ten Minutes' Rest Periods.

The changing of the association to a league was voted down by the representatives. Another change in the rules provides that the interval between periods be extended to ten minutes instead of five.

If the player picked his ball up and thoughtlessly did not hole out he would have permission to replace the ball as near as possible to where it was lying and play again, charging himself two strokes penalty for lifting the ball This can be done provided the player has not left the green. The penalty vould be two strokes and not one.

THE PROBLEM OF "HONOR" AT EACH TEE.

If the player has the honor on the tee and puts a ball out of bounds should he step back and permit another player to play? Or should he keep on playing until he got a ball down the fairway? There is a big argument over this.

A suggests that the golfer having the honor should at least get a ball the fairway.

B insists that it would not be necessary and that as long as he had played one shot it was the other player's turn. (Answer to-morrow, with problem of Interference of Player Not in

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 5 .- Yale and Harvard graduates who thought they were classic in the Yale Bowl on November 25 are about to learn that because of the tremendous demand their allotment will be two instead of three. Announcement to this effect was made to-day by Harold F. Woodcock of the Yale Athletic Association and Fred Moore, graduate manager for Harvard, who have been riguring out for the last two days in New Haven how to arrange matters so the greatest number will be fairly pleased if not satisfied.

The seating capacity of the bowl is a few under 75,000 and already nearly 150,000 applications have been received, with every mail bringing in more. Applications close Friday night. A careful study of the problem resulted in the decision to allow former students at the two universities two tickets only and the work of distribution on that basis will be started Monday.
